Visit Riverside Museum

The new museum is likely to be very busy over the summer and parking may be limited. We strongly recommend visiting by public transport, especially as the museum is very easy to reach by bus, train and subway.

First Bus operates a regular service, Service 100, from George Square to Riverside via Kelvingrove. Train and subway services run frequently to Partick station, which is less than 10 minutes' walk from the museum.

Alternatively, park at the Kelvin Hall and follow a short, signposted walk to Riverside, which takes approximately 15 minutes.

Come and see Glasgow's much-loved transport collection in its fabulous new home on the banks of the River Clyde.

The dynamic new museum houses more than 3,000 objects, including many of the best-loved exhibits from Glasgow's old Museum of Transport, and not one but THREE re-created streets spanning the years 1890 to 1980.

There are lots of interactive displays and innovative attractions to entertain the whole family, and The Tall Ship is berthed alongside the museum, giving you even more to see and do during your visit.

The Riverside Museum Appeal Patrons are:

BAE Systems, The Gannochy Trust, FirstGroup, The Hugh Fraser Foundation, The Robertson Trust, The Weir Group, Arnold Clark, The Hunter Foundation, Optical Express, A J C Smith, Lord and Lady Smith of Kelvin, Richard Burns, Bank of Scotland, Strathclyde Partnership for Transport, The Barcapel Foundation, Scottish Hydro, Alma & Leslie Wolfson Charitable Trust, Phoenix Car Company, Royal Bank of Scotland, Rolls-Royce, Caledonian MacBrayne and the Glasgow City Council Landfill Communities Fund.

What's on at Riverside this summer

Clyde Waterfront Riverside Regatta Saturday 16 July

See the River Clyde at its finest with a selection of water displays including wakeboarding, the first ever Riverside Rowing Regatta and visiting Tall Ships that you can venture on to.

Riverside Seafood Festival Saturday 6 and Sunday 7 August

Enjoy cookery demonstrations and sample delicious seafood cooked by some of Scotland's finest restaurateurs. There will also be live music, children's activities and food stalls. This event is in partnership with Scottish Seafood.

Glasgow Riverside Rat Race Sunday 21 August

Glasgow's first urban adventure 10k will see competitors run, walk, splash, jump, kayak and climb obstacles alongside or in the river! The Rat Race will take in some of the River Clyde's most iconic landmarks, including Riverside Museum, where it will start and finish.

Sky Ride Glasgow Sunday 11 September

Now in its third year, Glasgow's family cycling event will extend its reach to the new museum. Cycle to and from Riverside Museum via Glasgow Green, enjoying the sights along the way.

Danny Macaskill Demo Saturday 24 September

See BMX stars Danny Macaskill and The Clan display their breathtaking skills and gravity-defying stunts against the stunning backdrop of the new museum.

Like all Glasgow Museums' venues, Riverside Museum is FREE to visit. An entry fee applies to The Tall Ship – visit www.thetallship.com for more information.

BRITISH ART SHOW 7

IN THE DAYS OF THE COMET

The British Art Show has come to Glasgow for the first time since 1990, and the Gallery of Modern Art is one of the three venues for the exhibition in the city, along with the Centre for Contemporary Arts and Tramway.

The tour – which takes place only every five years – is widely recognized as the most ambitious and influential exhibition of contemporary British art. Its time in Glasgow will be its only Scottish dates.

British Art Show 7 encompasses sculpture, painting, installation, drawing, photography, film, video and performance, and includes new work created especially for the Glasgow leg of the tour. Artists exhibiting include Karla Black, who has been nominated for this year's Turner Prize, and the celebrated Glasgow artist and writer Alasdair Gray.

For more information about the exhibition visit www.britishartshow.co.uk

British Art Show 7: Take part at GoMA

See What's on at GoMA and What's on for Families for events at GoMA to accompany the exhibition. Highlights include:

Peace at last!

A response by Kate Davis to Glasgow Museums' collection

This exhibition, by Glasgow-based artist Kate Davis, has been conceived specifically for GoMA in response to Glasgow Museums' collection, taking it as the starting point for a new body of artwork. The artist has selected key museum objects, which were influential in this process, to exhibit alongside her own work. These include etchings by Francisco de Goya, photographs by Jo Spence and Terry Dennett, and social history material related to Christabel Pankhurst and other suffragettes.

Kate Davis works across a range of media, including drawing, printmaking, installation and film. Informed by feminist art and theory, her practice has centred on questioning the politics of representation in 20th-century art and literature.

Exhibition Events

A programme of events includes a talk by Kate Davis on 28 July. See What's on in GoMA for more information.

Community Exhibitions

Presented by the Open Museum

Glasgow Museums' outreach service, the Open Museum, has helped to create two new community exhibitions that are on display this summer.

To find out more about the Open Museum, visit www.glasgowmuseums.com or phone 0141 276 9368.

A Few Characters, Many Stories

Some characters from Glasgow Museums' sculpture collection are taking a holiday in the Springburn Exhibition Space. They include a dog crafted from wellie boots, a Glaswegian bard, and a big gorilla! Local people have been inspired by these objects – come and discover their responses.

Personal Space

The Maternity Building at the Southern General Hospital has a new community exhibition space. Working in partnership with the NHS and local groups, the Open Museum has helped create two new displays for the space.

The Thursday Art Group who meet at the LUV Gallery in Linthouse have created artworks inspired by Glasgow Museums' collections on the theme of 'personal space,' and the Govan and Craigton Integration Network drop-in group have created beautiful collaged bags. Next time you're near the Maternity Building, grab yourself a coffee from the WRVS shop and have a look!

Exhibitions

The Glesga that I Used to Know – 1970s' Glasgow: Through the Lens
Until 8 January 2012
FREE entry

This is an exhibition of images taken in Glasgow in the 1970s as part of a photographic survey of the city. It reflects ordinary home life, work and play at a time of great social change. A book of the exhibition's photographs is available to buy in the shops now.

Children: Gullane Street, Malcolm R. Hill, Partick Survey, 1975

Quarriers
27 June–1 October 2011
FREE entry

Quarriers celebrates its 140th anniversary this year, and celebrates with this exhibition about its founder, William Quarrier. He overcame an extremely impoverished childhood to become a successful businessman and visionary philanthropist, working to help Glasgow's poor and destitute children.

The exhibition features a film created with the 1st Quarriers' Village Scout Group (45th Greenock and District).

Reunion Day: Back to the 70s
Saturday 3 September
11.00am–4.00pm, FREE, drop in
Dust off your platform shoes! Dig out your flares! Inspired by our exhibition The Glesga That I Used to Know, this year's reunion day will have a distinctly retro vibe, with 70s-themed events and activities for the whole family. Visitors of all ages are welcome to come along – especially if they're in 70s' attire!

A special invitation is extended to ex-pupils, teachers and southside residents past and present. Meet and chat to old school pals or former neighbours and be part of our annual Reunion Day school photograph at 2.00pm.

Stitches in Time
Our regular series of talks about Glasgow Museums' costume and textiles collection is taking a break over summer and will return in October.

This summer our taster workshops for adults explore some of our temporary exhibitions. Come along to have fun experimenting with creative techniques. No previous experience is necessary and all materials are provided in these relaxed, informal sessions.

The Common Room (ages 15–18)

A monthly opportunity for young people to have their own time and space to create, experiment and play with art.

Thursday Exchange

GoMA's series of special arts events take place on the third Thursday of every month. GoMA and the Library at GoMA are open late every Thursday evening till 8.00pm.

Group Visits

We're offering new creative workshops for groups of adults or young people aged 13+. Explore our collections and experiment with making your own art. Sessions can be tailored to your group's needs. Contact us to find out more. Bookings must be made three weeks in advance.

BSL (British Sign Language)

interpreters can be arranged for any GoMA talks: Please contact us at least one week before the talk you wish to attend.

Exhibitions

AC/DC

Opens September 2011

£2/£1.50

This exhibition about the rock band AC/DC is the first that has been approved by the band, and includes material which has never been on public display before, and items on loan from record company archives, fans and the band themselves. It's your chance to find out about AC/DC's 35-year career in rock, and their connections to Scotland.

Drawing (on) Riverside

Until 14 August 2011

FREE entry

Artist Patricia Cain presents her response to the development of the new Riverside Museum through the mediums of drawing and painting.

The Kelvingrove Organ

9 July–1 August 2011

FREE entry

Kelvingrove's organ is one of its most popular features, and one of its oldest, entertaining countless visitors to Kelvingrove since its installation in 1902. Find out more about the organ's history in this exhibition.

This summer, a book about the Kelvingrove Organ – including a CD of specially recorded organ music – will be available from the museums' shops.

A Way with Words

20 August–1 October 2011

FREE entry

This exhibition, the result of six creative sessions in a Glasgow Women's Aid refuge, showcase poems, stories and artwork by survivors of domestic abuse. This powerful portrayal of life before, during and after refuge has been brought together in the hope that it will inspire others on their own journey of recovery.

The Kelvingrove Organ and A Way with Words are Community Space exhibitions. Visit our website or contact Kelvingrove to find out how you can exhibit in this space.

St Mungo Museum of Religious Life and Art

Exhibitions

Curious: Exploring stories, culture and ideas in a changing city Opens August 2011
FREE entry

The many objects in Glasgow Museums' vast collection - from jewellery and paintings to games and musical instruments - have different stories to tell. The Curious exhibition, a collaboration between St Mungo Museum and a wide range of community groups and individuals from across Glasgow, tell just some of these amazing tales.

Come to Curious to discover new perspectives, hidden memories and funny stories - and to share your thoughts with us too!

Curious: Cultural Awareness Training Available from August 2011 - August 2012

We will be offering FREE cultural awareness training for the duration of Curious, focusing on three main topics: Understanding our identities, representing ourselves, and engaging with other cultures. Participants will be able to work with museum objects in the exhibition.

If you would like more information, or are interested in arranging either a short module or a full day's training for an adult group, organisation or company, contact us.
