

St Mungo Museum of Religious Life and Art was the first museum in the world to look at all the major world religions together. Within the St Mungo Museum we can offer venue hire clients a clean, bright and spacious function room which is very flexible in terms of possible uses including meetings, training workshops, seminars and dinners. The museum collection shows the inspirational role of religion throughout history and the beautifully presented and informative displays can be viewed by guests attending a function at the St Mungo Museum.

The Function Room on the ground floor level is perfect for smaller business and social gatherings. This bright and airy room is very flexible and is frequently used for business meetings, seminars and presentations. The function room has also hosted many social events including weddings, wedding receptions and civil partnership ceremonies. The function room overlooks the Cathedral Square and many guests draw inspiration and delight from the UK's only permanent Zen garden which lies immediately outside the function room area. Additionally, this museum's convenient, central location and nearby parking facilities combine with the building's beautiful architecture to place it firmly on the map as one of Glasgow's favourite venues.
