

Built in 1990 for Glasgow's reign as European City of Culture, the Glasgow Royal Concert Hall sits in an iconic position right in the heart of the city's bustling shopping district. Home to the Royal Scottish National Orchestra, the Concert Hall is a multi-purpose venue, presenting a varied programme of music and cultural events as well as hosting exhibitions, conferences and meetings. With many different rooms and breakout areas available, the complex can accommodate meetings and conferences from 12 - 2000 delegates.

Glasgow Life and its Service Brands including Glasgow Libraries (found at www.glasgowlife.org.uk) are operating names of Culture and Sport Glasgow.

Main Auditorium seats up to 2000 delegates without sacrificing comfort or atmosphere. An excellent venue for large scale conferences, with all delegates benefiting from good vantage points to the stage.

Strathclyde Suite can host a conference for up to 500 delegates theatre style. A self-contained room, with flexible seating arrangements, making it a highly sought after space with possibilities ranging from theatre style to lectures, to cabaret style, or classroom layouts for examinations – this room can also accommodate layouts suitable for shell-scheme exhibitions.

Exhibition Hall is a self-contained square room ideal for hosting a conference for up to 300 delegates. The hall has no fixed staging, allowing you to customise the layout to suit your needs.

The Lomond and Clyde Foyers, Strathclyde and Island Bars are areas within the Glasgow Royal Concert Hall which can be used as breakout areas for larger conferences or independently for conferences and meetings on a smaller scale.

The VIP Room is a smaller, self-contained rectangular room within the Glasgow Royal Concert Hall. The VIP Room is ideal for boardroom meetings for up to 12 people and can also host meetings with a theatre-style layout for up to 30 delegates.

The Green Room restaurant is not only an award-winning restaurant, it can also be used as a location for a smaller scale conference. Benefiting from a stunning view down Glasgow's bustling Buchanan Street, flexible seating options make the Green Room suitable for small lectures in a theatre or cabaret style, boardroom meetings, through to a formal banqueting layout.

The Buchanan Suite is a self-contained rectangular room, seating up to 120 theatre style or 50 cabaret style. The suite benefits from natural daylight by way of a concave panoramic window along one wall, overlooking our Green Room restaurant which itself looks down onto an iconic view of Buchanan street.
