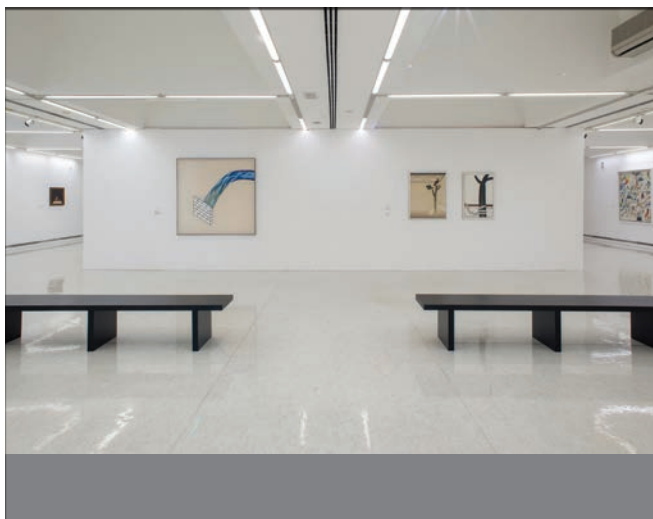

EXHIBITION

Cellular World

Gallery 1 | Until Sun 7 Oct |
During opening hours
Cellular World is a group exhibition that introduces the key thematic concerns of this year's Glasgow International Director's Programme, including questions of identity and individual and collective consciousness at a time of prolific social change and uncertainty, when reality can often seem more like science fiction.

TASTE!

Gallery 2 | During opening hours
TASTE! is an exhibition of artworks from Glasgow Museums' collection displayed alongside material from our archive, exploring how collections are built, artworks are commissioned and exhibitions are organised.

Jack Knox: Concrete Block
Gallery 4 | Until Sun 13 Jan 2019 |
During opening hours

Jack Knox: Concrete Block is the largest museum survey of work by influential Scottish artist Jack Knox. This exhibition focuses on paintings produced between 1968 and 1978, including many works that have never before been on public display.

Inner City

Gallery 3 | Until Sun 11 Nov |
During opening hours
Inner City explores questions about the modern city. Featuring Glasgow-based artists Alberta Whittle and Mitch Miller and the work Inner City by Michael McMillan.

Queer Times School Prints

Gallery 3 |
Sat 1 Dec–Sun 10 Mar 2019 |
During opening hours
Initiated by artist and curator Jason E. Bowman, Queer Times School Prints is a series of educational prints visualising aspects of LGBTPQI+A experience over the past 50 years.

Dippy on Tour A Natural History Adventure

22 Jan–5 May 2019, FREE

The Natural History Museum's famous Diplodocus, known as Dippy, is taking a road trip to Kelvingrove Museum. The full skeleton cast in its displayed pose is an impressive 21.3 metres long, 4.3 metres wide and 4.25 metres high. The dinosaur icon is on a mission to inspire five million natural history adventures, encouraging families to explore nature on their doorstep. Dippy on Tour is free and non-ticketed but please be advised that queues may occur as it is expected to be a very popular exhibit.

Dippy About the Dinosaur!

From Jan–May 2019

Discover the little-known story of Diplodocus carnegii, named after Scottish-American millionaire Andrew Carnegie (1835–1919). This exhibition explains why Carnegie decided to create copies of this huge fossil skeleton (found in Wyoming, USA in 1899) and why they were shipped to many different countries, including the Natural History Museum in London.

Dippy on Tour is brought to you by the Natural History Museum in partnership with the Garfield Weston Foundation

DISPLAY

Benny Lynch, The Little King of the Gorbals

Until Jun 2020 |

During opening hours

Benny Lynch was the people's champion. Coming from the slums of the Gorbals to being Scotland's first boxing world champion by the age of 22, Benny's rise was meteoric. He won the Scottish, European and World championship in 1935 and defended his title no less than three times. But his story was tinged with tragedy after alcoholism and declining health cost him his career and his life. He died at the young age of 33 in 1946.

This community display gathers together previously unseen objects from Benny Lynch's life and career, including his gloves, trophies, contract and personal items.
