Glasgowlife Museums

Welcome to Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum Visual Storyboard

Glasgow CITY COUNCIL

This is Kelvingrove Art Gallery & Museum.

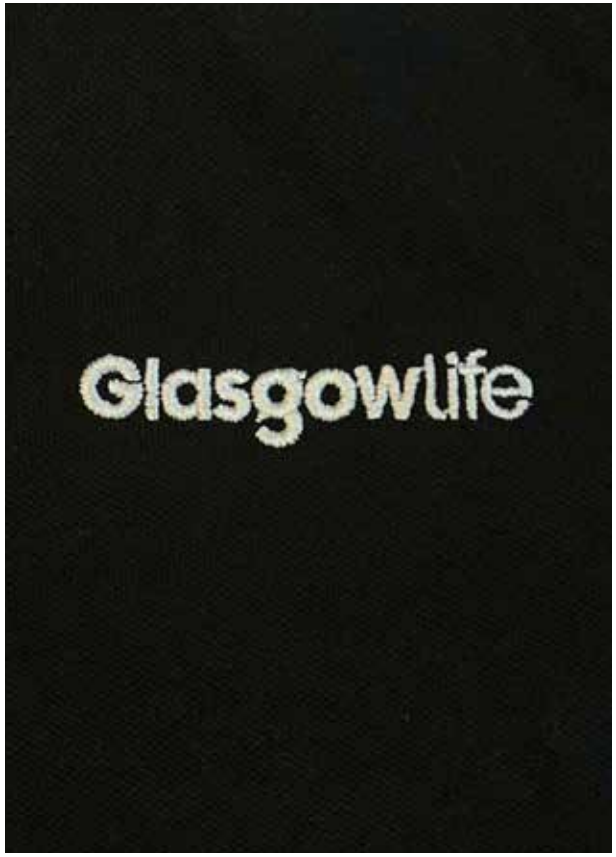

This is Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum.
Due to building works there is scaffolding outside. Sometimes it can be noisy.
The car park has less spaces than usual.
Alternative parking can be found nearby at Bunhouse Car Park next to Kelvin Hall.

Come and have a look inside.

This is the lower ground floor.
The Reception Desk is to your right. A gallery assistant can help you if you ask.

Museum staff all wear a pink or black lanyard and a black uniform. They have “museum team” written on the back of their jackets and shirts.

This is the Education Suite.
Schools visit this space with a learning assistant. Sometimes this space is closed.

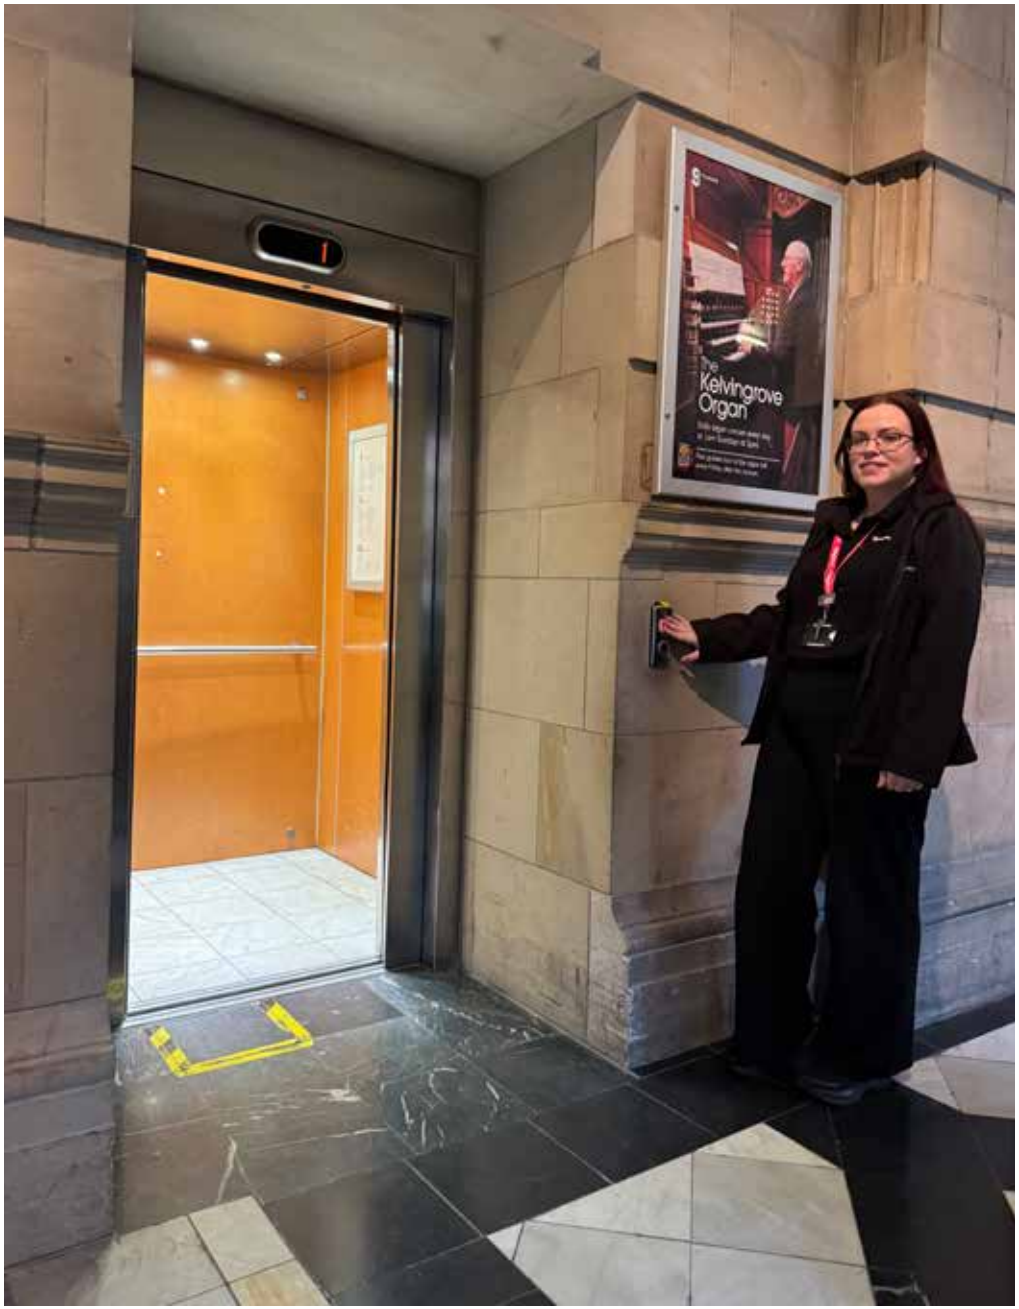

Straight ahead is the Temporary Exhibition Space.
You need to pay to enter. The theme of this space changes. Sometimes this space is closed.

You can buy gifts in the museum shops.

You can get table service and hot meals in the KG Café.

There are toilets.

There are lifts and stairs between all three floors of the museum.

This is the ground floor.
This is the Centre Hall. There is a reception desk. A gallery assistant can help you if you ask.

This is the KG Coffee Shop. You can queue up to buy sandwiches and coffee at the Coffee Shop.

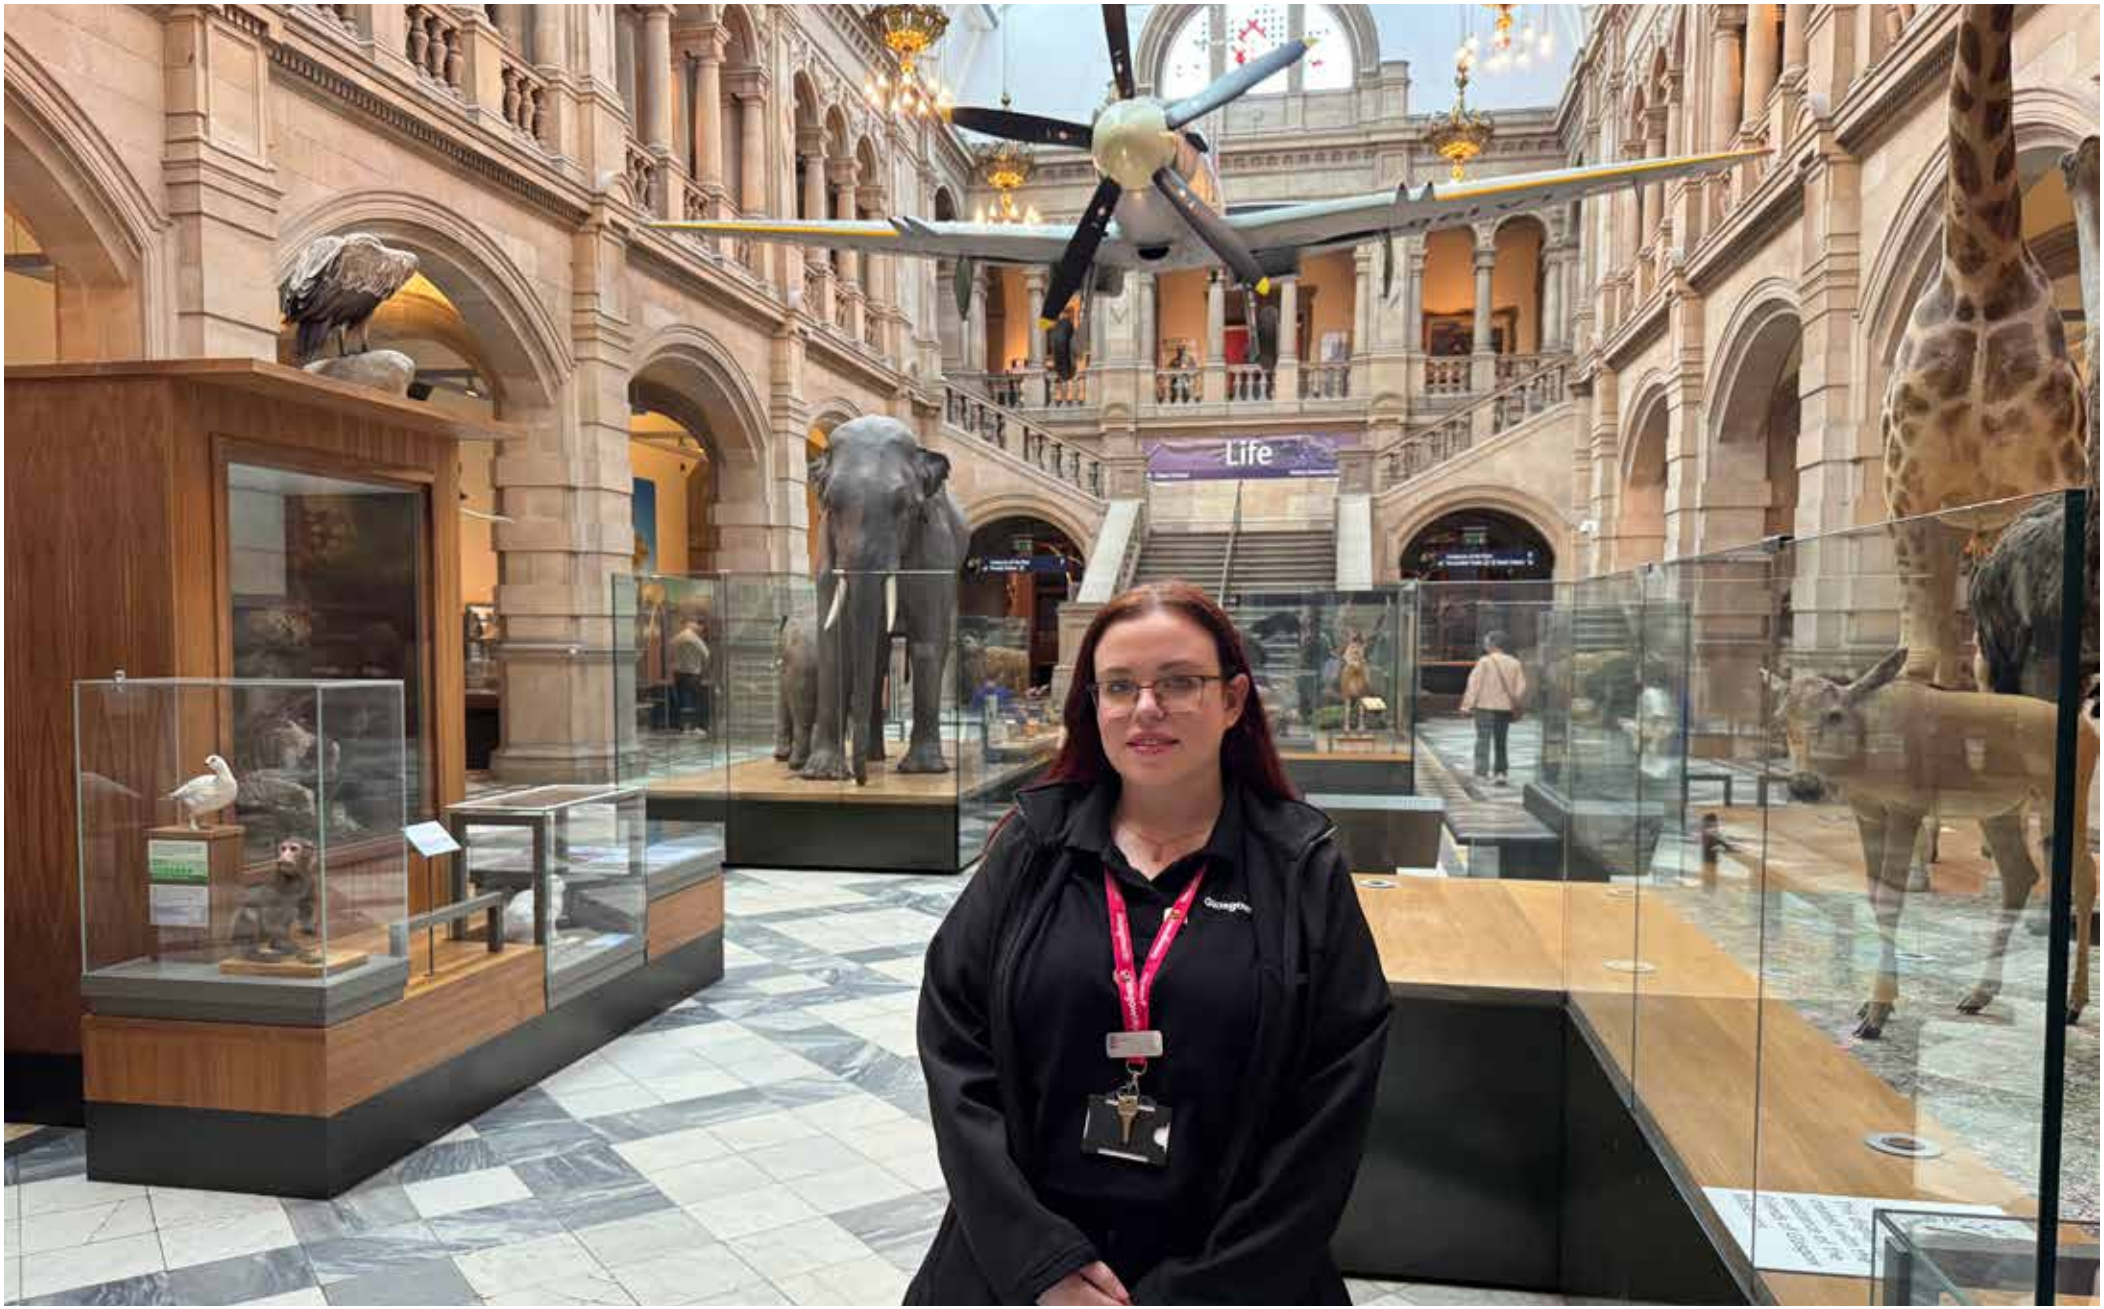

The organ is very loud. You can listen to the organ being played at 3pm on Sundays and at 1pm every other day.

Young children can learn and play in the Mini Museum.

Children can learn and play in the Environment Discovery Centre.

This is the Life Court on the ground floor. You can see stuffed dead animals.
There is a Spitfire aeroplane hanging from the ceiling. The animals are fragile so do not touch.

These are the galleries off the Life Court:
Scotland's Wildlife; Creatures of the Past; Ancient Egypt; and Glasgow Stories.

This is the first floor.

These are the galleries up above the Life Court: Cultural Connections; History Discovery Centre; and Conflict and Consequence.

The Object Cinema: Life in the Rainforest. This room is dark. There are lightboxes on the floor. You can watch a film. You can hear sound effects such as music, animals and a chainsaw.

Scotland’s First Peoples Gallery.
You can hear voices telling stories and sound effects such as fire crackling.

You can stand on the balconies and look down over the Centre Hall.

This is the Expression Court on the ground floor. You can see objects in cases, art work on plinths and art work hanging from the ceiling. The art work is fragile so do not touch.

These are the galleries off the Expression Court: the Glasgow Boys; Looking at Design; Mackintosh and the Glasgow Style; and Looking at Art.

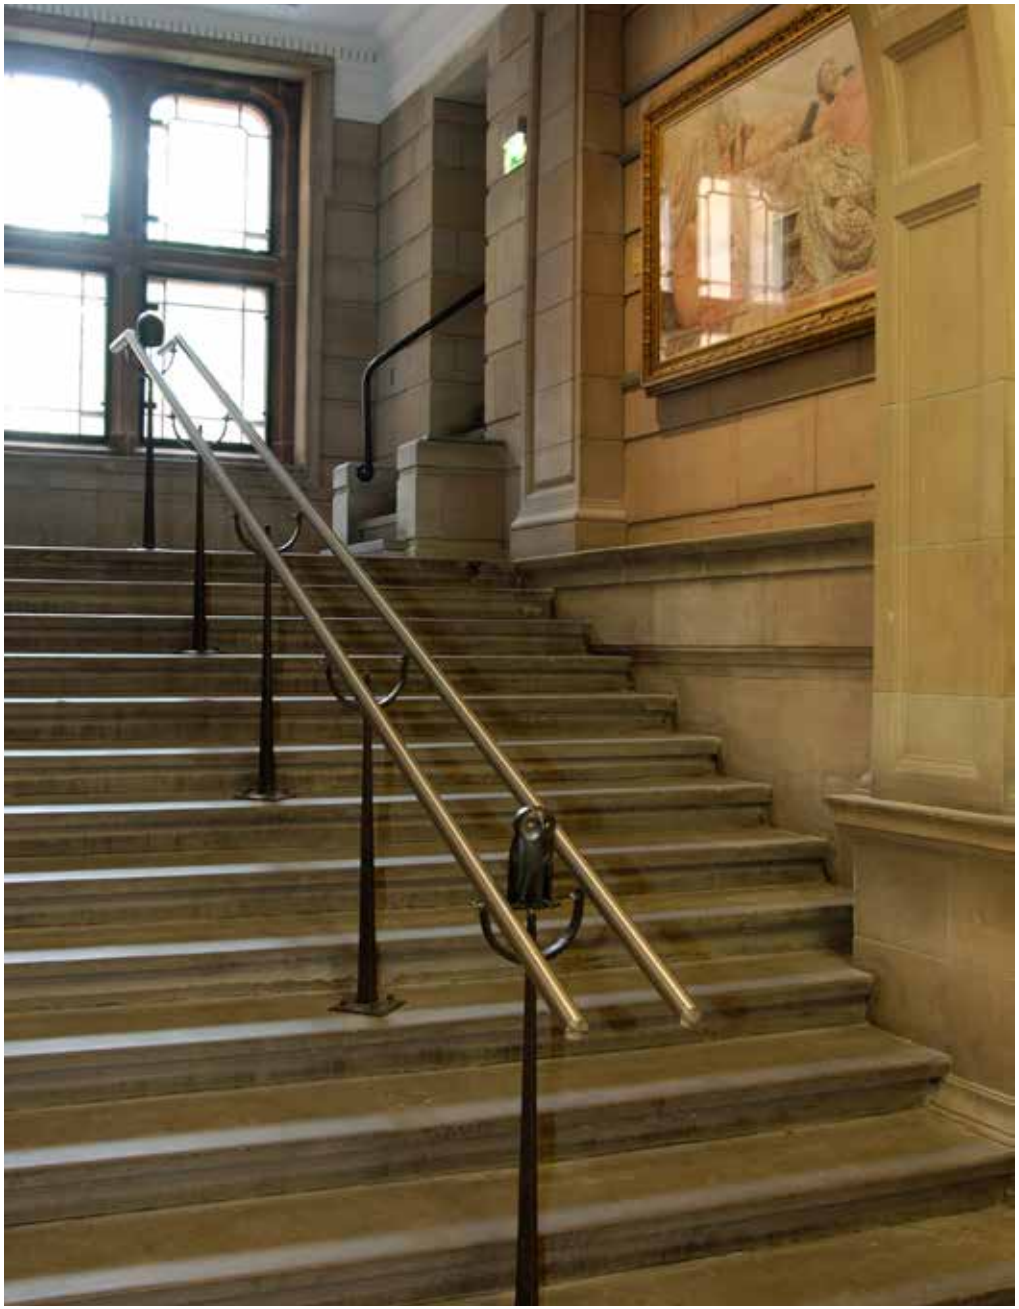

This is the first floor. These are the galleries up above the Expression Court:
Scottish Identity in Art; Every Picture Tells a Story; French Art; Scottish Colourists; and Dutch Art.

There are toilets on every floor. There are lifts and stairs between the three floors of the museum.

The fire alarm makes a loud siren noise.

Museum staff will guide you out of the building through a fire exit.

Do not go back inside the building unless a member of museum staff tells you that it is safe.

Thank you and see you soon.

The museum is busiest during weekends and school holiday times. The Expression Court and galleries off it are often quieter and calmer.

This visual storyboard was up to date in November 2026.

Please check our website www.glasgowlife.org.uk/museums for changes, and information on opening hours, public transport, parking and wheelchair access.

Phone 0141 276 9599
Email museums@glasgowlife.org.uk

@Kelvingrove Art Gallery and Museum

@kelvingroveartgalleryandmuseum